

Administrative Law

Administrative Law

Our firm advises clients on all matters concerning administration, and our well-trained experts can help take all the stress, and paperwork, away from your proceedings. In Lexland, our lawyers are available to make the appropriate arguments, requests, and interpositions on your behalf.

Below you can find a few of the services that we provide in relation to Administrative Law:

- Fine Claims

At Lexland we have specialists who handle complaints related to both fines and penalties, as in many cases these are improperly or incorrectly handled. Whether these are related to finance, traffic or any other incident, our professionals can help you resolve any issue on any fine.

- Public institution labour problems

Advising on such matters as public procurement and tenders, particularly on the entire procurement process and on construction contracts along with the state is one of Lexland's specialties.

- Remuneration Claims

Our services also include handling remuneration claims against firms or any other individual or entity that owes you money. This is one of the most demanded services and our professionals have extensive experience in such matters.

- Expropriation

With so much experience, our team specializes in managing all the different phases of the expropriation proceedings. In this aspect, we offer advice on reassessment procedures and reversion of expropriated property and rights, as well as on procedures for applying for nullity compensation.

- Aliens Services

Within the area of administrative law, we advise on issues relating to immigration by helping with the following steps:

- Processing of foreigners from the EU
- Processing of the non-EU foreigners

- Expulsions and rejections at the border
- Administrative and judicial remedies against refusals of residence
- Processing of residence permits
- Management of work permits

- Public subsidies

We specialize in managing, processing and the development of any type of subsidy and public support. We offer advice on all matters related to these procedures.

- Damage caused by management

Sometimes public services can cause damage to goods and rights of the individual. Our team fights for compensation for such damage, always ensuring that the customer will be satisfied with outcome.

- Procedures with the municipality, state government, social security etc.

Our specialists will always protect the interests of our customers in any conflict with administrations and public bodies.